Dear Parents and Carers

I wrote to you in March, before the school temporary school closures were announced, to inform you that Mrs Williams had tendered her resignation. I am very pleased to let you know that Mrs Williams has offered to continue in her role as Headteacher until the end of December and the governors have accepted this with much delight. We are so pleased that Mrs Williams is able to continue in her role for a while longer as this means that she can lead the school with all the arrangements needed as things get back to 'normal', along with helping the governors plan for a new headteacher to join Horrington next year. As you can imagine, to try to recruit a new Headteacher with the current restrictions in place was proving very challenging. The governors want to ensure that we have a robust process in place to recruit the right person for the role of Headteacher at Horrington and this will hopefully allow us the time to do this.

I am sure this will be welcome news for you all during these very uncertain times. I have been keeping in touch with Mrs Williams regularly and I am aware that the school have been amazing at putting in plans to ensure the children have resources for learning, and continuing to stay open to look after keyworker children. Thanks to all the staff at Horrington for working so hard to make these things happen.

I do hope that you are all keeping well.

Yours faithfully

Jennie Eyre

Chair of Governors
